- » Court: The Court the transaction is being filed into
- » Case Number: The Court's numeric or alphanumeric identifier for the case. If no case number is displayed, then the transaction is a new case filing transaction to open a new case in the court and you will need to assign a case number.

- » Authorizer: The name of the attorney submitting the transaction.

The document should be reviewed immediately. Each court can set the number of days a document can remain pending before it is late.
